

2. Backalley Brawl

Last time, on Huntr/x Quest...

The girls were confronted at a gig by demons under the leadership of an unknown entity by the name of Agwi Hwasin. To their horror, they found that these demons are able to not just take the souls of humans, but also to turn them into demons. They just left the venue and are making their way home to tell Celine what transpired.

Now heroes, prepare yourselves for Chapter 2: Backalley Brawl.

Leaving the venue, you make your way through the back alleys of Seoul to head home and tell Celine about everything you saw. But to your dismay, the stores appear to be overrun with demons! Try to rescue the four innocent people from this invasion, before it's too late.

For every innocent person that you save, each of you will get 100gp. If you can save all 4 of the innocent people, you'll each get an extra 100gp!

X - The girls start just off the map here.

A - "You peer down the hole. It appears to be some kind of tunnel."

Allow them to choose to pass through, in which case they go to the other A immediately and you say "It seems you have found the unfortunate person who you heard screaming earlier - and you've found your way into an ambush!"

B - "You open the door - to see a store filled with feudal-era weaponry, but no civilians. It appears the demons in this room got here before you did, they've armed themselves!"

Demons get +1 attack in this encounter.

If the heroes win, they find a Broadsword among the demon-scavenged items.

C - "As you open the door to this shop, you see a frightened storekeeper huddled against the far wall. The closest Fimir demon is starting to envelop him in purple smoke. You must help him!"

The heroes have 3 Gwi-Ma turns to save him: at the start of the 4th Gwi-Ma turn, the captive will turn into a zombie. Each round, say something ominous about the purple smoke. The closest fimir will stop his incantation and attack the heroes if attacked.

D - "You find a shopper backing away from a group of mean-looking demons. The Fimir demon appears to be just starting an incantation of purple smoke, and must be stopped at all costs."

The heroes have 3 rounds of combat to save the person: at the start of the 4th Gwi-Ma turn, the captive will turn into a zombie. Each round, say something ominous about the purple smoke. The closest fimir will stop his incantation and attack the heroes if attacked.

E - "The book seller is trapped in a corner! A fimir is attempting to cast his purple smoke to turn him into a demon. Stop him!"

The heroes have 3 rounds of combat to save the person: at the start of the 4th Gwi-Ma turn, the captive will turn into a zombie. Each round, say something ominous about the purple smoke. The closest fimir will stop his incantation and attack the heroes if attacked.

F - Upon defeating the enemies in the room, say "The frightened man you just rescued runs to your side, elated to see you. 'My name is Bobby, and you girls are amazing! Hey... I think I recognize you, you're Huntr/x! Do you need a band manager? You saved my life, it's the least I could do to help you girls out!'" Bobby knows how to use social media to give you temporary boosts to your connection to the Honmoon, known as Enchantments. These are now available in the store, and you can choose one for free to start your next mission.

G - "You don't see any people inside, but there's a lot of strange occult imagery, books, and potions lying around."

If they defeat the monsters and search the room, the heroes find a Potion of Strength, taking it from the treasure deck)

H - "When you open the door, you immediately hear the distant screams of someone further inside the building. You've got to save him!" (the doors inside this building are all open already)

When the last human is either saved or converted, say the following:

*With the demons dispatched and the streets appearing to be safe, you make your way back to the temple and let Celine know about everything you've seen.

Celine shakes her head. "Agwi Hwasin? This is surely the work of a stronger demon than we have encountered in a generation. I will head to the Library of Jang myself, and seek the Chronicles of Mudang: perhaps with the secrets we have discovered so far, we can find out who our foe is and how to overcome him. You girls keep his forces distracted: I don't believe that they know I still live, and I can slip to the library undetected."*

Wandering Monster in this Quest is: Orc
