

6. The Temple of Infinite Abyss

Last time, on Huntr/x Quest:

The girls managed to find a passage to the underworld, in their quest to rescue Celine from the grasp of Agwi Hwasin: the first humans to walk into the center of demonic power in generations.

Now heroes, prepare yourselves for Quest 6. The Temple of Infinite Abyss.

The girls descended down the worn stone spiral staircase for what felt like hours. As they did so, it felt as if the laws of physics itself were starting to change: small pebbles and debris levitating slightly off of the ground, stone illuminating the path without fire or electricity, and the air pulsing with visible streaks of blue and red magic.

Finally, they reach a large clearing: a cave with walls and ceiling of dark red stone ten stories tall, and in the middle a temple made of the same red stone and dark mahogany wood. At the entrance to the clearing, a crudely carved stone tablet with barely decipherable characters says

"Hunters, beware! You have reached the threshold of the underworld. The Honmoon will not protect you here."

Sure enough, when you try to spawn your weapons nothing happens.

You read on: "In this demonic temple, I have hidden an artifact that will allow you to access the powers of the honmoon even in these unholy places. If you must proceed further, first retrieve this artifact. But be careful, and attempt to evade combat if possible. Somewhere in the temple you will also find the staircase leading deeper into the underworld, if you dare to encounter it. Good luck." It is signed by a hunter named Hwa-young, whose name does not sound familiar to you. This must have been created a very long time ago.

Until you find this artifact, you will neither be able to use your weapons nor abilities, and your attack power will be 1 unless aided by a physical weapon. You stealthily sneak to a side entrance of the temple, and poke your head inside. Recover your abilities and then find your way further into the underworld!

X - The girls start here.

A - When a hero steps here and does not yet have their powers back, say You can hear many voices behind this door. It may be safer to not proceed until you've reconnected with your powers.

B - When a hero steps here and does not yet have their powers back, say You can hear the voice of a demon just around the corner. Now may be the time to turn back and find another way.

C - When a hero steps here and does not yet have their powers back, say You put your ear to this door, and don't hear anything on the other side. It might be safe to try this one.

D - The demons in this room appear to be sleeping. Is this some kind of barracks?

E - As you open the door: You think you see a faint blue glow coming from the nearby weapon rack. More monsters are sleeping in this room.

F - When the first girl reaches the rack: As you approach the weapon rack, the blue glow begins to become stronger. It's coming from a small knife, with a blue stone now shining as bright as daylight as you reach out to touch it. Upon touching it, a blue glow envelops you! You feel your strength returning. You attempt to take the knife, but it is somehow permanently attached to this rack. The other girls are going to need to come in and touch it as well to regain their powers.*

Suddenly you see the enemies in the room waking up. Defend yourselves!* All the monsters in the adjoining rooms now wake up and can move during Gwi-Ma's turn.

The girls will each need to stand next to the rack to regain their powers.

G - When searching for treasure in this room, the girls find an ancient treasure chest with runes on it. It has a meteor trap! Place a 3 x 3 Meteor overlay on (G) and say You see the silhouette of something large coming down from the ceiling. Move out of the way if you can!

At the start of Gwi-Ma's next turn, any units standing on the insert take 3 body points of damage.

The chest contains 100gp per hero, as well as a Potion of Healing.

H - When entering this room, say: You see a glowing tome on the altar. the words suddenly fly off of the page and surround you, swirling around you with glowing blue magic.

I - If the girls have not done (H), say:

You attempt to open the doors, but they are locked. Glowing blue runes illuminate the door whenever you touch it. There must be a way to open it.

If they have done (H), say the following and then open both doors:

At a touch, the glowing blue runes that were surrounding you pour into the doors. In a flash of light, the doors are opened revealing the stairs down and the demons who were waiting for you on the other side! Before you stands an entire warband of terrifying Chaos Warriors, demons trained in the art of combat. There's no turning back now!

Each chaos warrior drops 50gp per hero as they fall, 200gp total once all 4 are felled.

J - When all the girls have reached the staircase, say:

You look at each other with a glance of hesitation, but then strengthen your resolve and proceed down the stairs. Celine is down here. Somewhere.*

You each receive 500gp worth of experience from conquering the Temple of Infinite Abyss.*

Wandering Monster in this Quest is: Zombie
